I'm pumped up for ELECTION DAY, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6TH AND I SUGGEST YOU GET PUMPED UP AS WELL.

Election Day... Ooowee! Just VOTE!

Oowee!

Yesterday is gone, tomorrow is not promised, so just live and thank God for today. But I must confess and agree that yesterday is GONE, LIVE for TODAY, but guess what? I'm looking forward to ELECTION DAY.

Now, before I go any further, I won't assume that you know when ELECTION DAY is SO I'LL TELL YOU. ELECTION DAY IS TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6TH, ALL DAY FROM THE TIME THE POLLS OPEN TILL THEY CLOSE.

Already, my Election Day is planned from the time I get up at 5 a.m. until I arrive home after the polls close. I won't be going to any parties or sitting with anyone as the numbers are released in regards to who's winning. I already claimed my winner so I'll be home alone praying, watching the TV, walking back and forth until the announcement comes over the air.

I will then find myself on bended knee as I did when this president won the first election, giving God the GLORY and the PRAISE.

Until I arrive back home after the polls close on Election Day, I hear some of you asking what I will be doing all day on Election Day? You won't believe this but I'll be taking individuals to VOTE. These individuals, for some reason, want to VOTE on ELECTION DAY and that's that.

One eighty-six year old, precious woman made it, as I say, "cut-throat" clear to me that it's bad luck to vote before Election Day.

Another ninety one year old told me to pick him up on time because he didn't want to be in those long lines. When I asked him why he just didn't mail in his VOTE, he made it cut-throat clear to me why. "People marched and died so that I could vote so, if they marched for me, I ought to be able to take my butt to the poll and vote in person." Wanting to ask him why not go early before ELECTION Day, I realized just looking at him it was better to not ask. I know he would be one of the first ones that I will pick up on Election Day.

Now here's a saying that goes, "We don't PLAN to FAIL, we FAIL to PLAN. Now read that over again so you'll understand this next point I'll be making.

What's your plan for ELECTION DAY THAT WILL HAVE A POWERFUL EFFECT ON THE VOTE? I'M NOT TELLING YOU WHO TO VOTE FOR BUT WHAT WILL YOU BE DOING ON ELECTION DAY THAT WILL AFFECT THE OUTCOME OF THE VOTE THAT YOU WANT TO SEE?

MY PLANS IS TO MAKE SURE THAT I GET AS MANY INDIVIDUALS TO THE POLLS AS POSSIBLE, AT FIFTY. With my car and two vans working, already we know our goal is possible.

My assistants, helping me to drive, will call all the individuals to be picked up on the night before Election. We know where they are to vote and it will be smooth no matter what the weather might be.

Now what's your plan? Have you already voted? What can you do if you know of an individual that needs to be picked up on or before Election Day? What can you do now if you have not voted and want to avoid long lines on Election Day? Do you know where you are to vote on Election Day? Now is the time to address these questions and have clear answers to reach your goals.

I'm pumped up for ELECTION DAY, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6TH AND I SUGGEST YOU GET PUMPED UP AS WELL.

REMEMBER THAT YOU'RE EITHER PART OF THE SOLUTION OR PART OF THE PROBLEM. VOTING MEANS YOU'RE PART OF THE SOLUTION BECAUSE YOU MADE YOUR VOICE HEARD.
