Written by Kevin Heard
Monday, 26 September 2011 14:56 -

Looking good when you’re practically naked isn’t easy, so here are a few tips to keep in mind next time you’re stripping down to your lacy under-things:

Looking good when you’re practically naked isn’t easy, so here are a few tips to keep in mind next time you’re stripping down to your lacy under-things:

Written by Hello Beautiful Staff

Looking good when you're practically naked isn't easy, so here are a few tips to keep in mind next time you're stripping down to your lacy under-things:

- Workout right before—or at least that day. Exercising will make your muscles look tighter and leaner for at least a few hours afterwords.
- Use a bronzer for contouring. The word "contouring" can be a little intimidating, but all it really means is you take a powder (like Maybelline Mineral Bronzer) and dust your cleavage and abs to add definition. Focus on the sides of your stomach—the shadowing will make you look slimmer.

- Don't forget your legs. Sleek stems are key, especially if you're rocking a garter, which will draw attention to them. If you have ample prep time, use a self-tanner the day before. If your tryst is more spontaneous, use a shimmering cream (like NARS Body Glow) which also has a scent he'll go wild for.

SOURCE