"The Unofficial Harry Potter Cookbook," by Dinah Bucholz

With the whip of a whisk instead of a wand...

"I raise my foaming mug of butterbeer...in salute to Dinah, who serves up more than 150 recipes that will satisfy the appetites of hungry Muggles everywhere."

-- George Beahm, author of 'Muggles and Magic and Fact, Fiction,' and 'Folklore in Harry Potter's World'

The Unofficial Harry Potter Cookbook and The Unofficial Harry Potter Sweet Shoppe Kit combine elements of potions with transfiguration and a bit of herbology and divination to create a feast fit for Hogwart's Great Hall and your dinner table.

Dinah Bucholz has always had a love for cooking and baking. Born to a large family in the New York City suburb of Monsey, Dinah's mother always encouraged her to be independent in the kitchen. From an early age, she was baking cakes and cookies for her family and friends. Working as an English teacher and editor into her adult years, it wasn't until she became a full-time mom that her culinary skills really began to develop. Studying cooking on her own for years, it wasn't long before she was making fine desserts and cooking delicious food -- a passion second only to eating it.

Today, Dinah lives in Philadelphia with her husband, and to the sorrow of her four children, no pets. She spends her time cooking, writing, and wearing a professional-looking white chef's apron when she remembers to put it on.
